6. Open Response:

6.1) What are the strengths of this course?

- How the assignments were spread out
- I have gained many strengths in Texas government during this semester. I came into this course uneducated in politics and the system of our government, and now I feel like I have knowledge on this subject.
- It's very easy to understand what to do, the timelines and work.
- The course material is very easy to follow.
- The feedback is the greatest strength of this course.
- The strengths for the course is that he thoroughly gives instructions and references on how to complete the assignments. Additionally he puts in grades quickly and responds to what you do well and can improve on.
- There are a lot of strengths. The ability to choose when we can do our work is amazing. When we do our work, we are provided with the text book chapters we need to read, some more activities to look at close by, and when I have a question, I can easily email my professor and he would respond quite quickly. Overall, I like this class.
- This course did a pretty good job with keeping the assignments organized. Also, it never felt like too much work.

6.2) What changes would you recommend that would improve this course?

- Having assignments due on Sunday instead of a Wednesday
- I don't think I would make changes. I enjoy the short answer assignments, although I wish I could have turned in the one I missed the deadline for.
- I think it's great as it is.
- I would not change anything that Professor Williams provides in his course.
- I would not make any changes to this course.
- I would not really change a thing.
- I would say to make the written assignments a bit easier to understand.
- Less writing assignments
- Overall I have no constructive comments he is an excellent professor. Although if I had to change something I would add a discussion post to where we could see what other thought about the material
- none.

6.3) Any further, constructive comments?

- I don't have any.
- It is interesting, I have you as the teacher for two of my classes. One class such as this, I absolutely enjoy and the other I despise. If I had to make any changes I would say to make your business law class similar to this one. This class is very easy to follow and understand. I have learned a lot. I wish I could say the same about the other.

- N/A (2 Counts)
- No
- The Lecture videos are very informative and help me understand the lessons on each chapter.
